PETERSON - HINES

At Ocala Saturday morning, September 1, occurred the marriage of Mr. Daniel Peterson, of Astor, Fla., to Miss Annie J. Hines, of Churchill. The bride was attired in white. She is a lovely girl and never looked more beautiful than on this occasion. The groom, although quite a young man, has the deep lines of an earnest purpose expressed in his handsome face. The young couple have the community's best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy matrimonial voyage.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Ocala:

Section 1. That the city of Ocala is hereby formally declared by the city council of said city as a candidate for the location of the state capital, to be voted for at the primary election to be held on November 6th, A. D. 1900, upon the basis of the passage by the legislature of Florida, in the event the said city of Ocala, at the said primary election, shall be chosen for such location, of a joint resolutions as follows, to-wit:

Joint resolution proposing an amendment to Section 1, Article 16, of the Constitution of the state of Florida, relating to the location of the seat of state government: Be it resolved by the legislature of the state of Florida that the following amendment to the Constitution of the state of Florida is hereby agreed to, and shall be submitted to the electors of said state at the general election in November, A. D. 1902, for ratification or rejection.

Section 1, Article 16, of the Constitution of the state of Florida, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at the city of Ocala in the county of Marion, provided, however, that the temporary seat of government shall remain at Tallahassee, in the county of Leon, until thirty days after the governor shall make and issue his proclamation that a capitol building has been erected at Ocala, and that the same is ready for occupancy by the officers of the state government.

Immediately upon such proclamation being made, all the records pertaining to the seat of government shall be removed to the city of Ocala and hereupon the said city of Tallahassee shall cease to be the temporary seat of government.

The city of Ocala shall contribute the sum of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000) to the state for the purpose of defraying the expenses incident to the erection of the necessary building or buildings for the state capitol, and the change of location. The said city of Ocala is authorized to issue its bonds necessary to realize said sum of money, and also to levy and collect taxes for the payment of the principal and interest thereof as may be provided by ordinance of said city.

Said city of Ocala shall provide, free of charge to the state, a suitable site or location of the state capitol building.

It shall be the duty of the legislature of Florida to enact such legislation as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this article.

Sec. 2. That the city clerk of the city of Ocala is hereby authorized and directed to certify under the seal of said city to the proper officials the fact that the city of Ocala is a candidate at the said primary election to be held November 6, A. D. 1900, for the seat of government of the state of Florida and to take all necessary steps to formally enter the city of Ocala as such candidate at the said primary election. Ocala's candidacy is upon the basis of the passage by the legislature of the joint resolution copied above, which is made a part of an ordinance passed by the city council without a dissenting vote on September 4, 1900. Ocala is a thoroughly modern, enterprising and up-to-date city, with a million dollars' worth of property on its tax roll and with a total indebtedness of not more than forty thousand dollars. She owns an electric light plant and other valuable property, far exceeding in value the amount of her debt. She has an efficient fire department paid by the city.

Compare her proposition with that of Jacksonville and these advantages will be seen:

1. As evidence of her good faith, and believing it to be to the best interests of the state, she does not ask that the capitol be actually removed until she shall have deposited one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars with the state treasurer, and until the governor shall proclaim the completion of the new capitol building.

Jacksonville's proposition, as made through her city council, is to move the capital into some temporary quarters (not named) until a new building can be erected; after this she hopes to induce her people to vote to tax themselves for a building already completed and paid for by the state.

Ocala does not ask the people of the state to take any such chance as this. She believes that the present capitol building at Tallahassee, where the public records have been kept for the last seventy-five years, is much safer and better as temporary quarters than any building Jacksonville can now offer.

This is what the authorized representatives of Jacksonville say she will do. It can not be expected that she will do more; it matters not what the politicians claim.

2. Ocala offers a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in cash, and the choice of four eligible sites, before the capital is moved. Jacksonville offers a site and to try to collect from her citizens one hundred thousand dollars after the capitol is moved and paid for.

Which is the better, safer and fairer proposition?

A FAITHFUL FEW

Proceedings of the Florida Prohibition Convention

Per announcement half a dozen prohibitionists from various parts of the state assembled in the parlors of the Montezuma Hotel yesterday, organized by making Rev. J. A. Boord, of Melrose, chairman, and E. L. Ferran, of Eustis, secretary. Rev. J. R. Biggs, of Ocala, was called on to invoke the divine blessing.

Communications were read from Mrs. Alice C. Brown, president of the Florida W. C. T. U., and from Messrs. S. J. Brown and O. R. Thatcher, of Avon Park, sending them words of cheer and Godspeed in the noble work they are striving to accomplish.

It was ordered that the chairman and secretary make suitable answer to same.

The next business was the naming of electors, when A. R. Moore, of Merritt's Island, east coast, proposed the name of Col. J. C. Pepper, mayor of Punta Gorda, when Mr. Moore was added; also Francis Trueblood, of Bradentown. Isaac Stevens, of Ocala, declined the honor in favor of Rev. C. H. Nash, of Sanford.

The chairman and secretary of the meeting will duly certify to these names as presidential electors on the national prohibition ticket and forward same to Secretary of State Crawford, who will see that they are so placed that those so inclined may vote the same November 6.

The following state executive committee was then named and unanimously elected: Dr. A. L. Izlar, Isaac Stevens, W. C. Bull, Ocala, E. L. Ferran, Eustis, and J. P. Smith, Bradentown. The committee was empowered to fill any vacancies that may occur among the presidential electors and to supply any vacancies on their committee. Tenure of office was made four years.

Mr. D. Moffett, of St. Petersburg, insisted that Rev. I. M. Auld, a Presbyterian preacher and a great temperance worker of his city, be put on the committee, but several suggested that he could be more serviceable along other lines and his name was withdrawn.

Then came the question of resolutions. Mr. Moore had one cut and dried which smacked considerably of McKinleyism and imperialism, while Chairman Boord had prepared a very appropriate and desirable resolution, when Mr. Smith suggested that both be adopted, to which Mr. Moffett objected and moved that the chair appoint a committee of five, of which he be one. The others were Rev. J. R. Biggs, D. Moffett, L. N. Herrick, of Eustis, and A. R. Moore.

Mr. Moffett suggested that some money be secured. Mr. Stevens favored same, but said instead of a collection a subscription should be made, which was done and those present autographed with promptness and liberality and so direct, the Star reporter's name got into the financial chain.

It was then suggested that the committee on resolutions have until 8:30 p. m. to prepare the same and the convention adjourned, with a cordial invitation to the visiting delegates to attend the prayer meetings at the different churches.

Home folks present were Dr. Izlar, Rev. T. J. Nixon, Isaac Stevens, R. C. Loveridge and Josephus Anderson Munden. Rev. W. H. Coleman was seeking the place of meeting, but missed it.

The meeting was very unanimous in its determination to put up electors and vote for the same, and considering the fact that the call was made in a Chicago temperance paper and only known to a few, accounts for the slim attendance of "out and out" prohibitionists, but none the less reflects honor on those who attended, because, in their coming, the expense attending same and the loss of time incurred by their presence, without the hope of political reward, it plainly showed that these men were actuated by purely unselfish motives and following the dictates of their consciences and adhering to principles, as they saw and felt them, looking to the suppression and overthrow of the giant evil that afflicts the land. Their actions are worthy of all acceptance. Had the call been made through the press of the state and cheap rates secured, at least several hundred delegates would have been present.

The resolutions passed by the Convention will be found on the fourth page.
